The WNTC "Paul" Show

To the Editor:

On October 21st and 22nd, WNTC aired two special programs concerning the rumors of Paul McCartney's death. General feeling at the station was that one program was enough. I participated in the first 3 and one-quarter hours of the first program, and left, because even at that early time, most of the information being phoned in was becoming repetitious, and those of us who were running the program had nothing new to offer.

Needless to say, in this light, a second program was not necessary. The "higher authority" referred to in this case was consensus of the station's membership, which was opposed to the three or four people who ran the two shows, and in the case of the second show, did so by forcing the announcer off the air before his show started.

As a final note, I would very much like to thank those students who took part in the show Tuesday night. We put our memberships in the station on the line to give you a chance to talk, and we are thankful that you didn't abuse the privilege.

Sincerely yours,
Dave O'Bryanne

Integrator Discussion Programs

To the Editor:

In reference to Mr. David Loper's letter in the October 29th issue of this newspaper, I assure WNTC's entire listening audience that discussion shows concerned with important, relevant topics will indeed be aired in the future.

Since the Inter College Radio Network is a student organization, we invite any student interested in developing discussion shows to contact Program Director Ralph Curcio, News Director Roger H. Smith, or myself at WNTC, and we invite responsible criticism on any part of our programming.

Sincerely yours,
Robert Emborski
